SHOCKINGLY GOOD MUSIC

Michelle Shocked, whose reputation as an extremely avant-garde folksinger may camouflage the fact she makes music that's a lot of fun just to hear, headlines a strong three-act bill tonight at the Ritz.

Opening the show will be Poi Dog Pondering and John Wesley Harding, the former a pretty impressive group and the latter a pretty impressive singer. — David Hinckley

At 254 W. 54th St. at 10 p.m. Tickets, $19.50. For information, call (212) 541-8900.

STUFF FOR KIDS

■ IT'S MEADOWFAIR TIME again at the Staten Island Children's Museum. This annual all-day outdoor arts and entertainment festival is a day of fun, this year featuring several Earth Day-inspired workshops and activities such as recycled wood-scrap sculptures; string bags, a recycling obstacle course, plus magic, a backyard circus, pony rides, music and more. Admission is $7 for kids
