

Activists' Earth Train to have Hollywood crew aboard

About 150 young activists from 6 countries are boarding the Earth Train, ready to head across the USA to speak out for social and environmental change.

The train will leave from Los Angeles after a Youth Action Forum on Sunday that will bring about 1,000 local students together to discuss such topics as crime, drugs, racism, education and family values.

Joining in will be several young Hollywood types, including Hillary Wark (Brilliant Young People), Bob Byrne (Step by Step) and Dana McCellar (The Wonder Years). They will take part in training, learning to help motivate kids to work in their own communities.

On Monday, the Earth Train's 928-watt steam engine and decorated cars will chug out of Los Angeles and head to San Francisco for a town meeting on regional issues on Tuesday. Other stops: Denver, Sept. 25, for a youth action forum and environmental festival; Chicago, Sept. 28, for a youth summit training session; New York, Oct. 1, with a march from Grand Central Station to the United Nations, where Class No. 1, who is riding on the train, will announce Green Nobel prizes for youth and Washington, Oct. 2, to present a National Youth Agenda to Congress.

Swan Lake, with a twist
A Minnesota wildlife biologist is in Alaska today on a rescue mission. Wildlife specialist Steve Killebrew is trying to capture 20 baby trumpeter swans, hatched too late in the season to fly before their lakes freeze up later this month.

Under a program sponsored by Minnesota's Nongame Wildlife Program, funded by donations made on late tax forms, the swans will be captured in the Gulkana River basin east of Anchorage and brought to the Jartes Avery Game Farm at Forest Lake, Minn., on Monday. There, they'll grow to maturity and be released in spring 1984, as part of the state's trumpeter swan restoration project.

Getting out the eco-vote
College students are rallying to help launch a national student voter registration drive aimed at electing pro-environment candidates.

BYRNE: 'Step By Step' star will join Earth Train's motivational training.

Singer Michelle Shocked will join Hillary Clinton at the University of Colorado, Boulder. About 10,000 students are expected at the rally, which will focus on a variety of social issues, including the environment, education, civil rights and abortion rights, says student leader Eric Kessler.

Kessler also are planned today at the University of Maryland, College Park, where vice presidential candidate Albert Gore speaks. University of New Mexico, with presidential candidate Bill Clinton, Boston University, where Tipper Gore is to speak, and the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Speeches during the voter drive is GreenVote, an independent political committee led by Owen Byrne, an attorney who was national student coordinator of Earth Day 1990. The group aims to register 80,000 new voters on 180 campuses. "We hope to make election day Earth Day," Byrne says.

Monterey Sanctuary

The USA's newest marine preserve — the Monterey Bay National Marine Sanctuary — will be officially dedicated in ceremonies Saturday in Santa Cruz and Sunday in Monterey, Calif. The sanctuary, the largest in the U.S., is bigger than Yosemite National Park and deeper than the Grand Canyon — and is home to seals, whales and 22 threatened or endangered species.

The designation as a national sanctuary protects 4024 square nautical miles of the central California coast from oil and gas drilling. The Monterey Bay is the 11th U.S. marine sanctuary, the fourth along the California coast.

Weekend festivities include tours of 22 ships, including the battleship California, informational booths set up by groups ranging from the Center for Marine Conservation to surfing clubs, and speeches by marine scientists and politicians. Local bands will provide music.

The Monterey Sanctuary is considered a national sanctuary by marine experts because of the diversity of wildlife it protects, including forests of giant kelp and dozens of rare, deepwater creatures.

Beach cleanup bingo

Time for fall cleaning. This weekend, tens of thousands of volunteers will hit the beaches with one thing on their minds: trash.

The International Coast Cleanup, a huge effort to pick up mountains of plastic, glass, bottle, cigarette butts and other junk from the beaches of the world, gets underway in at least 23 states and a dozen countries today through Sunday.

Results of the annual cleanup are tabulated and made public each spring by the Washington, D.C.-based Center for Marine Conservation. Last year, 130,132 volunteers collected 4,347 miles of beaches and rivers and other waterways collecting 2.8 million pounds of trash. Worst offenders: plastics, including cigarette butts, plastic foam and other bits.

SHOCKED: She'll rally with Hilary Clinton at University of Colorado.
